"NO PICK AND SHOVEL WORK FOR ME," Roland Kreger might be saying as he rides a ditch-digging machine on the Ernest Kreger farm near Kresgeville. The huge machine, of which only the rear portion is visible, uses buckets on a wheel to dig the two-to-five-foot-deep ditch. Cost is about 12 cents a foot to the farmer. Machine has been used infrequently in Monroe County, but for the past two weeks has been operating in the West End. A half dozen farmers have hired the privately-owned machine in order to install tile to drain wet spots in their fields. Handing the tile to Kreger is William Baumgartner, a neighbor, who also had some ditching done.

American Infantry Company Charges Into Compound Of Chinese POWs On Kojé Island

Kojé Island, Korea, Monday (AP)—A company of bayonet-wielding American infantrymen, supported by two Sherman tanks, charged into a Chinese prisoner of war compound today, tore down a Communist flag and burned five insulting banners.

The GIs, wearing gas masks, formed a ring of bayonets to keep the prisoners at bay while one of the tanks battered down a 50-foot flagpole.

The operation took only 10 minutes. The Reds made no resistance.

American infantrymen carrying bayonet-tipped rifles tore down a Red banner in a second compound and repaired breaks in the inner of three barbed wire fences surrounding the enclosure.

Prisoners in another compound complied almost immediately with an order to tear down a Red flag and statue of a North Korean soldier.

There were two more steps in the moves initiated by Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, new commander of stormy island stockade holding 80,000 Red POWs, to restore Allied control.

The order to the Reds to tear down their flag was delivered both orally and in writing to a compound spokesman.

POWs in Compound 66, scene of the recent tear gas invasion by an American and British demolition party, complied almost immediately.

A spokesman said Boatner also ordered the POWs to tear down their prized possession, a statue of a North Korean soldier. The Reds obeyed almost instantly.

Authorities speculated that the Reds may have removed chunks of barbed wire to make weapons for use on the day when United Nations guards attempt to shift them into smaller compounds.

Boatner yesterday banned mass singing of Communist songs. But the Reds sang last night anyway.

Reds Call Paris Strike

Paris (AP)—The Communist-controlled French Confederation of Labor (CGT) called yesterday for a 24-hour strike in the Paris area Wednesday in protest against Premier Antoine Pinay's get-tough policy towards the Communists.

A similar appeal by the CGT to its three million members throughout the nation and to sympathizers everywhere following the arrest of Communist leader Jacques Duclos went virtually unheeded. The CGT apparently was taking no chances on a second failure. By calling on only the Paris area to strike, it could expect a fair measure of support, especially from the "Red Belt" of workers surrounding metropolitan Paris.

The strike call came sharply on the heels of a crackdown by the government on the Communists. Police raided party headquarters here and elsewhere in France at dawn Saturday.

Special Services In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Special services in many churches were held yesterday as Pittsburgh's annual Welcome Week celebration entered its second day. An estimated 50 thousand visitors inspected the new 33 million dollar Greater Pittsburgh Airport at its dedication yesterday.

Welcome Week festivities will end Saturday with a speedboat regatta. This is the fourth consecutive year that a special week has been set aside by the Steel City to point up the progress being made in cultural and industrial life.

Change In Communist Propaganda Tactics Cause Allies Grave Concern

Shock Felt 400 Miles From Base

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—An atomic explosion testing troops, tanks and sheep sent a flash and a rumble observed 400 miles away in California yesterday.

Atmospheric tricks produced a curious result of this 19th blast at the Yucca Flat test site.

It caused little commotion in Las Vegas, 75 miles away, where it was seen but barely heard. But its brilliant flash and sound evidently bounced off cloud formations and over mountains to excite and awaken residents over wide areas of northern and southern California.

City Editor Otto Schroeder of the Modesto, Calif., Bee, about 350 miles from the blast, said it caused two thuds loud enough to wake people and rattle windows there. A San Francisco radio news writer, Ed Arnow of KNBC, said he was driving to work when a brief flash of light covered the sky.

The test was fired from a tower at 4:55 a.m. 6:55 a.m. EST and the California reports coincided with the approximate time it would take the flash and sound to travel that far westward.

Meantime, 1,000 troops regularly stationed at Camp Desert Rock waited out the explosion in foxholes about 7,000 yards from the blast site. Seconds after the detonation they jumped from the foxholes and advanced into the firing area behind tanks and Army radiological safety monitors.

Observers in Las Vegas said the troops, and Atomic Energy Commission experts at the control point, must have gotten a good jolt. But their commander, Brig. Gen. Harry P. Storke, said there were no casualties. He said this was the final major maneuver of the current series in which there have been seven test shots.

Sheep were used in this experiment but neither the Army nor the AEC released any immediate information on how they fared.

Fifth Air Force Admits Heavy Loss In Korea

Seoul, Korea, Monday, (AP)—The Fifth Air Force admitted Sunday night the loss of 45 planes over North Korea during May, but reported 39 Communist aircraft destroyed last month. Allied losses were listed as nine in aerial combat, 28 shot down by Red ground fire and eight from causes unknown.

Despite the Communist edge in overall results, the figures do not tell the whole story. Throughout the month Allied air power ranged freely over North Korea—as it has since the outbreak of the Korean War. The Reds did not once venture south of the battlefield.

That situation leaves the Allied war planes exposed to the twin risks of ground fire and aerial combat. In the air war, Allied fighters held a margin of almost four-to-one: 34 to 9.

Four Michigan Orphans Receive New Home
Pittsburgh (AP)—Four orphaned Michigan children two boys and two girls, got a happy surprise yesterday—a home with two Pittsburgh couples.

Dr. Arnold Friesen, a psychiatrist, brought to his spacious home James Moore, five, and his brother, Jeffrey, four. And Mr. and Mrs. John D. Babb came home with Barbara, seven, and Jean, 10.

The Moore children lost their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moore, of Leonard, Mich. in an automobile crash several months ago.

Shortly after the crash, the Babbys wanted to adopt all 11 of the Moore children. They were turned down by a Michigan court after the oldest Moore boy, Gerry, 16, said he wanted to keep the family together.

Then last month, Mrs. Richard Moss, wife of the legal guardian of the Moore children, and Gerry, and the oldest Moore girl, Anne, 14, visited both the Babbys and the Friesens for several days.

Eisenhower Plunges Into Series Of Conferences Before Leaving Service

By Don Whitehead
Washington, (AP)—Flashing his famous smile, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower came home yesterday and plunged into a final round of conferences which will cut his military ties and free him to take an active role in the campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Military pomp and ceremony dominated the return. But those who saw him watched for political significance in every move and word of the Kansas who sheds his uniform tomorrow.

Then he heads for his home town of Abilene, Kans., for his first public address—and the open arena of politics.

From the time his big silver plane landed here at 3:57 p.m., EST, Gen. Eisenhower was caught up in a tide of events which will not reach a climax until the Republicans choose their presidential nominee next month in Chicago.

The first call he made was to the White House to receive the greetings of President Truman.

The two were alone for 30 minutes and then the President called in his defense advisers presumably for an informal talk about the military situation.

But for at least some 50 minutes of the one hour and 55 minutes that they were together, the President and the general discussed no weighty matters of state. Truman was taking Eisenhower on a personally conducted tour of the renovated White House, which the general seeks to occupy.

For the most part, there were cheers and hand-shakes and back slaps for Eisenhower for a job well done in commanding the Western World's defense forces in Europe.

Whether Eisenhower's political future cropped up during the talks—none would say.

At this point, Eisenhower's military status is the same as that held by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, another five-star general. He is a general on active duty—but without a command.

East Germany Parades Full Armed Power
Berlin (AP)—Communist-ruled East Germany paraded its armed forces yesterday in the most militaristic display in Germany since the Hitler era as surrounded Berlin waited for the next move in the Red squeeze play.

The big show took place at Leipzig, where more than 100,000 members of the Communist Free German Youth climaxed their fourth annual congress with a parade for the Russian Zone Communist bosses, who shook threatening fists at the West.

For a solid hour, all radio stations in East Germany broadcast the drum beats of martial music and the tramp of marching feet as President Wilhelm Pieck and other Eastern leaders took the salute from contingents of the People's Police Army and the Sea Police Navy.

Many thousands of FDJ youth-nom publicly acclaimed as the "Jungle Garde Young Guard"—carried small-bore rifles.

President Pieck told them "our best youth should go into the People's Police. The others should go into the factories and produce for us the best possible weapons and equipment."

The parade was officially titled "Mass Meeting for a Peace Treaty and the Defense of the Homeland." It was all in the name of "Defense Against the Aggressive Intentions of the American and West German Imperialists." Speaker after speaker denounced West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer for signing the pact which has allied West Germany to the Western world.

To the accompaniment of these war-like sounds, the Communists continued the process of sealing off East Germany from contact with the free world. For the first time the more than two million Germans of free West Berlin were forbidden to enter the surrounding Russian Zone—except in transit to or from West Germany. Nobody got in except with a special permit from the Russian Zone secret police. And nobody knew how to get these.

Douglas Hopes Truman Will Veto Bill
Washington (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) expressed the hope yesterday that President Truman will veto the omnibus immigration bill and that Congress will sustain the veto.

Two similar bills, one by chairman McCarran (D-Nev.) of the Senate Judiciary Committee and one by Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Immigration Subcommittee, are now before a Senate-House conference committee that is attempting to work out a compromise.

Douglas particularly criticized the measures because they do not permit the pooling of national quotas; that is, to permit the nationals of one over-subscribed nation to come in under the unused quotas of another.

He said the formula continued in the two measures "was based on the unwarranted assumption that because of their language, occupational and cultural differences, the peoples of southern and eastern Europe were inferior."

Hiss Counsel In Court Today
New York (AP)—Counsel for Alger Hiss goes into Federal Court today to argue that the jailed former State Department aide was framed by a counterfeit typewriter and should be granted a new trial.

The 47-year-old Hiss was found guilty of perjury at his second trial in January, 1950. A first trial in 1949 ended with the jury deadlocked. Hiss now is serving a five-year sentence at Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Prison.

He was accused of lying when he told a federal grand jury that he never turned over State Department secrets to a former Communist spy ring courier, Whittaker Chambers, before World War II.

Nation Drives To Tragic New Record During Long Weekend

By The Associated Press
The nation drove to a tragic new record for the three-day Memorial holiday Sunday: At least 322 persons died in traffic accidents.

Highway mishaps claimed lives on the average of one every 14½ minutes as the 78-hour weekend holiday waned.

Highway crashes were taking an average of about 3 2/3 lives an hour.

The National Safety Council had estimated that the traffic toll for the 78-hour period—from 8 p.m. local time Thursday to midnight Sunday—would be 310. This would figure out to a slightly higher hourly casualty figure.

However, with about six hours of the weekend remaining, a council spokesman said, "It looks like the figure is going to go beyond our estimate."

He said the Sunday night home coming crowd undoubtedly would account for a great number of accidents on the roads.

Leader In Education Field Dies After Short Illness
New York (AP)—John Dewey, 92, known as the father of progressive education, died yesterday.

The aging philosopher, who only recently was reported recovering from a broken hip, succumbed to an attack of pneumonia which he contracted Saturday.

He died last night at his Fifth Avenue home at 7 p.m. EDT.

His widow said he failed quickly and died quietly.

The hip injury was suffered last November when Dewey fell in his apartment while playing with his two adopted children, Adrienne, 12, and John Jr., 9.

Dewey's philosophy of education was that emphasis should be put on the individual child rather than on the subject. Few, if any, men had as much influence on educational thinking of the time. His views did much to humanize the American school system.

Uncertainties Reported Hurting Steel Markets
Cleveland (AP)—Mounting uncertainty and indecision are affecting the steel markets, the magazine Steel reported yesterday.

"This is being translated into increasing buying hesitancy, even order cancellations, and accompanying sluggishness in various areas of production and consumption," it said in its weekly review.

The Supreme Court's delay in ruling on the legality of President Truman's seizure of the industry "is a potent force for caution in determining current business policies," it continued.

Another factor cited by the metalworking journal is "the renewed threat of a serious explosion in Europe."

Five New Agreements
New Delhi, India (AP)—India and the United States signed five more agreements here yesterday for the use of 50 million dollars in U.S. aid. Eight such agreements signed thus far allocated $44,460,000 of the total. India's contribution to the projects totals $6 million dollars.

Latest Truce Talk Lasts 30 Minutes

Munsan, Monday (AP)—A slackening of Communist propaganda invective at the Panmunjom truce parleys puzzled Allied delegates Sunday, but they were unable to say whether it meant anything.

There was no progress in the 30-minute session. Both sides agreed to meet again today at 11 a.m. 9 p.m., EST, Sunday.

The Reds' softer tones coincided with an easing of tension at the Allied prisoner of war camps on troubled Kojé Island and on the South Korean mainland.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist delegate, has consistently and bitterly cited the outbreaks in the prison compounds—incidents started by the prisoners—to assail the Allied stand against forcibly returning POWs to Communism.

Prisoner exchange is the major issue blocking an armistice in the bloody struggle which becomes two years old June 25. The United Nations command says nearly 100,000 of some 169,000 military and civilian internees refuse to return to Red rule. The Reds want them all back.

In Sunday's session, Nam Il repeated his familiar charges but in considerably milder terms.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., senior Allied delegate, again suggested a recess in the deadlocked talks but Nam Il insisted on daily meetings.

Hall Attending State Meeting
Pittsburgh—A blue-eyed, honey colored blond from Coaldale, Pa., yesterday walked away with the title of "State Beauty Queen" in a contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Lions Clubs.

At their annual State meeting in the William Penn hotel here, a board of six judges named 17-year-old Melrose Hoffman, a Coaldale High School senior as the "most beautiful" of seven girls entered in the State contest.

The five foot, five inch Coaldale girl represented District 14-K in the competition.

Strodsburg and other Monroe county Lions Clubs are members of District 14-K. District governor Elton Hall, a Strodsburg resident who is attending the Pittsburgh convention, is general manager of the Poccano Broadcasting Co., which owns and operates Radio Station WVPO in Strodsburg.

As a part of her award, Miss Hoffman will receive a round trip to the Lions International convention in Mexico City, June 25-28. She will also get a complete outfit of clothing, including a gown for the event and will be provided with a suitable chaperone.

The Coaldale girl was also entered in last year's State contest at Buck Hill Falls, but failed to win.

Crime Programs Face Investigation
Washington (AP)—Rep. Gathings (D-Ark.) will open a congressional investigation of television programs Tuesday with an attack on portrayals of crime, he said yesterday.

The House ordered the investigation of both radio and TV to determine the extent to which programs contain "immoral or otherwise offensive matter, or place improper emphasis upon crime, violence and corruption."

The Weather
Fair and less humid with high of 72 to 78 today. Cool to night. Tomorrow generally fair and mild.

1952 is called the Mileage Maker Six, and the Ford Motor Company built a multi-million dollar engine plant at Cleveland, Ohio, to manufacture it.

The Mileage Maker Six, rated at 101 horsepower and 176 pounds foot torque is a high-compression low-friction overhead valve engine developed during four years of research. It was designed for adaptability to higher compression ratios to take advantage of gasolines with higher anti-knock ratings when the fuels become available.

However, both passenger car engines are designed to operate on regular gasolines.

Only Ford in its field offers a choice of six-cylinder and V-8 engines and it also is exclusive in offering the option of three transmissions—Fordomatic, the Ford automatic transmission; the Ford overdrive, and the conventional transmission.

Six power combinations—either of the two engines with any of the three transmissions—are available on all models in the Mainline and the Customline, except the Country Sedan.

The Country Sedan is powered by the V-8 as are the Crestline models, the Sunliner convertible, the Country Squire station wagon and the Victoria. Any of these transmissions may be used in these models.

Both Ford engines boast an industry "exclusive" in the use of precision-molded cast alloy crankshafts, camshafts and exhaust valves. The crankshafts give up to 30 percent longer life and all these parts are highly resistant to wear and extreme heat.

Horsepower of the V-8 was increased by a combination of higher compression ratio—up from 6.8-to-1 to 7.2-to-1—redesigned camshaft, and carburetor, and by other improvements.

Both engines have close-fitting expansion control aluminum pistons, full-pressure lubricating systems which keep all bearings oiled by pressure, free-turning valves to give better valve seating and eliminate sticking, and the Ford automatic power pilot carburetion-ignition system which provides power with fuel economy.

The new Ford Six was designed to obtain more useable engine power and fuel economy by reducing friction and heat losses. To meet the objective, Ford engineers adopted a new combustion chamber design and overhead valve arrangement. The compression ratio is 7-to-1.

A short piston stroke results in less piston travel and the new design results in a noticeable cut in friction losses between the piston and cylinder walls. This reduction in internal friction, together with new designs in carburetion, manifolds and precision fittings of wearing surfaces, resulted in a marked increase in useful power of the engine.

The Ford Six has integral valve guides cast as part of the cylinder head, a full-flow oil filter, timing chain, and all-steel cylinder head gaskets.

The cylinder block and crankcase are cast in one piece, extending below the center of the crankshaft.

In addition, the engine employs

Communists To Issue Manifesto

London, (AP)—A Communist party manifesto to be issued today will urge the House of Commons to reject the West German peace contract and the European Defense Treaty.

Schuylkill County Youth Wounded At Promised Land

A rifle bullet wounded a Schuylkill County youth Saturday afternoon as he sat in a rowboat with two friends on Promised Land Lake, Pike County.

The shot was fired from a .22 caliber rifle by a companion, Joseph Fernandez, 18, Greer City, Schuylkill County, who was standing on shore and shooting over the water about 5 p.m.

The bullet struck Clarence Klingerman, 18, Locust Valley, in the back and lodged in his spine.

The two friends, William Faust, 19, Barnesville, Schuylkill County, and James Fernandez — Joseph's brother — rowed Klingerman to shore.

The owner of a nearby cabin was asked for help, according to Milford State police investigation. Youth was taken in a station wagon to the General Hospital, East Stroudsburg.

He was reported in "fair condition" last night.

Pfc. Wroblewski said Joseph Fernandez was charged with shooting a rifle on public grounds. He was released under bond for hearing today before Justice of the Peace Mary C. Lohman, Milford.

The youths had been staying at the Faust cabin, located on the lake shore.

Blood Donations

There is nothing so highly personal for donation to the cause of the alleviation of human suffering as one's own blood; but again residents of Monroe County have met quotas in contributions to the Red Cross blood bank.

Our sincere thanks and humble admiration go to the donors.

The expected levels of blood contributions are not so well maintained in other parts of the country; and it is almost nip and tuck in the overall supply versus the demand. The bloodmobile must keep on making its rounds so long as grave emergencies, such as the Korean situation, continue to face us.

Donors may well have confidence that the life fluid which they have contributed will be capably handled and protected and used where the need is greatest.

The surgeons in our armed forces, and the medical experts with the Red Cross, appreciate the truth of the opinion expressed recently by Dr. Douglas Surgenor, a Harvard professor, who spoke at the dedication of a new pharmaceutical laboratory at West Point, Pa.

Dr. Surgenor said the supply of human blood is not inexhaustible, that demands on available supplies of whole blood are steadily increasing and there is no indication that the trend will be reversed.

Despite the strides which have been made in the science of blood technology, the professor pointed out, man at best can only supplement what nature already has done. He has yet to find a replacement for the magic fluid.

Dr. Surgenor recommends that we expend this vital resource with the greatest frugality; otherwise the time may come when we will run short.

Thus the demands may be met most wisely by prudent contributions by the many; rather than to let excessive demands rest upon a few.

Harsh Discipline

Grove City College is a private institution, and it undoubtedly has the right to make, and enforce, rules for the discipline of its own students.

The college undoubtedly has the right to expel 20 students on the somewhat vague charge of drinking beer off the campus—or no charge at all, if the officials choose.

But any such penalty should be judged in the light of whether it is or is not reasonable. And this penalty seems harsh.

Four of the men are former members of the armed forces—hardly callow youths, and perhaps more mature in some respects than the average college student.

Half of them are seniors, and for them the penalty is heaviest. They lose the chance to graduate in a few more weeks. They lose commissions in the armed forces for which they had worked. They become subject to the draft and may not get the opportunity to complete their college work.

Of course, each student must be responsible for his own conduct. But there is also some responsibility on the college officials, particularly in the case of the ten seniors in the dismissed group.

These men have spent four years—minus a few weeks—on the campus. If, in that time, the college was not able to make them fit for graduation, perhaps there's something else wrong.

One of the earliest aerial photographs was taken from a balloon in 1860 in Boston.

Paul Hoffman, former director of ECA, president of the Ford Foundation, and one of General Eisenhower's managers, has written a book with the object of telling Americans how to win the peace. Hoffman is supposed to be an idea man and so is very influential.

In this book, "Peace Can Be Won," he sets out to reduce American productivity to a basis that would make our industries non-competitive in this country with imports from Europe. He writes:

"As the leader of the free world, the United States must revise its attitude toward foreign trade. The great 'giver of peace,' Great Britain, in the nineteenth century advanced international stability and amity by means of a world trade that benefited everybody. The United States must build to the same end. For a century we have hidden behind our tariff walls, protecting our 'infant industries,' bulwarked by the self-sufficiency of our immense resources. We have sold to the world but have been reluctant to buy from it, and world trade has been thrown badly out of balance."

That is enough of a long quotation to make the point. Great Britain, of course, was not the "giver of peace," but an imperialist power whose authority spread over all the earth. British economy was based on the import of raw materials from distant colonies and other areas for manufacture in England and Scotland. Subsequently, the manufactured goods were shipped back to the colonies and other areas and a profit was made on every phase of the transaction, including shipping, insurance and exchange.

For part of this imperialist period, Great Britain opposed local manufactures, which is one reason why she lost the American colonies. After the rise of the United States, Germany and Japan to industrial strength, the British fought a losing battle to keep them out of the international market. In time, she gave up free trade, imposed Imperial Preference, which was aimed principally at the United States, established cartels, particularly in raw materials, some of which, such as rubber and cocoa, operated to the detriment of the American manufacturer. "Imperial Preference" still obtains.

The United States has never been engaged in widespread economic imperialism and therefore its problems, its motivations and its tariffs have been different from those of Great Britain. We imported, for a large part of our 200-year history, population, capital and machinery and exported foodstuffs and raw materials. Our task was to reduce the import of capital and machinery; we accomplished the latter through the tariff, the former by our superior productivity and by the re-investment of profits in industry.

Hoffman justifies free trade on the basis that we have already, willy-nilly, become an international WPA. Why did we become an international WPA? Was it economic necessity or screwy politics? Were we forced into such a situation by an unrealistic One World concept which has brought us permanent war? This is what Paul Hoffman says:

"... Under such circumstances other nations could not afford to continue buying from us unless we gave them money. And that is, of course, exactly what we have had to do through a dozen loan and grant schemes, starting from after World War I right down to our present ECA. American aid to Western Europe during the last thirty-five years has amounted to some $22,000,000,000 exclusive of direct war outlays. This was apart from genuine philanthropic motives—a way of subsidizing our exports, for practically all the American money that went abroad never stayed there; it always returned to buy American goods."

Money did not return to buy American goods. That is an economist's fiction. We mostly exported the equivalent in goods. We gave away, for free, our natural resources. We set up the steam shovels and ripped out our iron ore and our copper and lead and zinc and gave them away in the form of manufactured goods—in some cases, as in Soviet Russia, eventually to be used against us in war.

And more than that, we are now in peril of becoming a dependent nation for our principal raw materials. We are already importing iron ore from South American countries and soon from Labrador and we are becoming a dependent nation with regard to copper. We shall give and give and give, until we have nothing left. Then who will come to our aid? Name the country!

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—I have some reading that should be required for Senator Alexander Wiley, Wisconsin Republican, who has been chiding his colleagues in the Senate recently for criticizing the Truman-Acheson foreign policy.

It is a War Department Secret Intelligence report on China, compiled in 1944, but not made public until this month. Senator Pat McCarran, Democrat of Nevada, somehow got a copy which he promptly released as a report of his internal security subcommittee. It should be read for all campaign orators as well as Wiley.

The report, according to valid Washington information, never got into the hands of the late President Roosevelt, although two copies were delivered to the White House by military officers. Mr. Truman has to vacate the premises before we can get at the records to determine who sidetracked the document or if one favorable to the Chinese Communists was substituted in place of this military intelligence report. It revealed the Communists for what they are and what they were up to.

Wiley insists that the G. O. P. continue to buy the Acheson brand of behavior internationally, and we are told that he reflects the view of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and the coterie of internationalist senators riding the general's coattails.

If Wiley is right, then he is asking Republicans to help promote a foreign policy in China that has ignored the facts of Communism.

Long before the sell-out of China to the Communists—prior to Yalta—top-ranking military and diplomatic leaders had the military intelligence report in their possession. In fact, Gen. George C. Marshall had three years to read it before his stupid mission to China where he tried to mousetrap the Nationalist government into allowing the Chinese Reds to take over China. Marshall and Acheson even tried to get Congress to approve the training of nine Communist Chinese divisions by American officers, and to equip them with U. S. weapons.

All the while Marshall had the 1944 report on his desk. Yet, in the face of the facts in the document, Marshall tried to bludgeon Chiang Kai-shek into adopting Hollywood—The second movie version of "Scaramouche," from Rafael Sabatini's novel, swash-buckles through 18th Century France and nearly two hours of handsome Technicolor. It's entertaining, dazzling, exciting, saucy, and too long.

Stewart Granger is a devil-may-care adventurer, Andre Moreau. His long-time friend, a young revolutionary, (Richard Anderson) is cruelly slain in a duel by the Marquis de Maynes (Mel Ferrer).

Granger vows revenge. Along the way he makes love to a low-comedy actress (Eleanor Parker) and a queen's protégée (Janet Leigh). The climactic Granger-Ferrer duel in the sword-swinging spectacle runs nearly eight minutes. It flashes through a crowded theater—along the balcony, in the boxes, up the aisles, on stage, and behind the scenery. No doubles, studio claims.

Traveling players, whose feminine star is Miss Parker, give interesting demonstrations of early French farce. Granger, fleeing the king's soldiers, joins the troupe in the long-nosed disguise of the clown Scaramouche.

The film's physical attractions include San Francisco's Golden Gate Park, doubling as Paris' Bois de Boulogne. Miss Parker, this time a redhead, never looked more luscious. Miss Leigh, more a china-doll character in her white wig, is beautiful, too. Nina Foch appears briefly as Marie Antoinette.

Second Army General To Inspect Signal Corps Depot Today

Official Party To Travel By Plane

Tobyhanna—Lt. Gen. E. H. Brooks, commanding general of Second Army, will arrive at Mount Pocono Airport at noon today with aides who will join Corps of Engineers and Signal Corps officers for an inspection of the $33,000,000 Signal Depot project here, largest in the United States when completed.

Final phase contract for the plant project, due to employ a maximum of 5,000 civilian employees, has been awarded to Merritt-Chapman & Scott, New York corporation.

Major work under the contract entails the construction, complete with mechanical and electrical equipment, of 19 buildings with a total volume of approximately 50,000,000 cubic feet; utilities and site improvements.

This work will be under the supervision of Myles McGough, vice president in charge of the company's industrial building construction division, and Ralph E. De Simone, president. Architects for the project are Gilroy, O'Malley & Sopper, Scranton.

Gen. Brooks will be accompanied by his aide Maj. H. L. Garris. Lt. Col. Charles S. Tucker is resident engineer at the project for the Corps of Engineers. He succeeds Capt. John Myers who will also be part of the inspecting party today.

Gen. Brooks and his party will be met by Pat Grecco, civilian representative of the Signal Corps, and Murray Blumman, also a civilian employee of the Signal Corps. Inspection will begin after luncheon at Pocono Manor.

Members of the firm of the architect-engineers, contractors and others are expected to join the inspecting group.

The architect-engineers for the dwelling units are Rinker & Kiefer, Stroudsburg.

Heavy Holiday Traffic Clogs Area Highways

It was also fairly evenly divided between vehicles moving westward and those driving back toward the cities.

Between 1 a.m. Saturday and midnight, officials at the Delaware Bridge recorded a total of 5,653 vehicles crossing the bridge.

Of these, 2,895 were moving eastward and the remaining 2,670 were westbound.

At the covered bridge connection between Portland, Pa. and Columbia, N. J., a total of 3,619 vehicles were counted during these same hours, moving both ways.

A slowly falling rain had made most drivers cautious in their efforts to get home. This caution resulted in a suppression of accidents over the weekend in Monroe county.

From Friday at 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. last night, only three accidents had been reported in the county. In none of these was serious injury reported.

Visibility in most sections of the county was reported "fair to poor" Friday night and early Saturday morning.

Rainfall at Mount Pocono airport was officially set at .68 from 5 p.m. Saturday to 5 p.m. yesterday.

Regardless of the weather, however, Monroe county's traffic quotient ended up near its peak for the long Memorial Day "weekend".

For the period beginning at 4 p.m. Thursday and ending at 11 p.m. last night, Delaware River bridge records show that approximately 45,000 vehicles passed into and out of the Pennsylvania area.

Figuring the average "population" of each car as five persons, this meant that nearly 225,000 people travelled through Monroe county during the three-day weekend.

That's almost equal to the combined populations of Reading and Scranton in 1950.

Stroudsburg, Eastburg Hold Baccalaureate

Traditional baccalaureate services were held last night for seniors of both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools.

Clergymen from both boroughs participated in the ceremonies.

Addressing Stroudsburg seniors was Rev. Thomas Shoemith, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church.

Rev. William F. Wunder, of Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, delivered the principal sermon at baccalaureate services for East Stroudsburg senior classmen at the Junior High auditorium.

Rev. Shoemith chose as his theme "With A Sense of What Is Vital In Religion", discussing the varied values of religious belief and thought in alliance with the responsibilities of adult life.

Beginning his sermon with the acknowledgment that there are "any number of definitions of religion", Rev. Shoemith then proceeded to draw a parallel between the story of the Three Wise Men and the true meaning of religious belief.

This allegorical study carried through the four stages involved in the Wise Men's journey to Christ's birthplace. These the speaker identified as the search, worship, repentance to their own land and the difference their discovery of faith had made in their attitudes toward their fellow men.

"It is natural to worship," Rev. Shoemith said, illustrating his point with a story of a father who had attempted to keep his son from believing in God only to come upon him praying by himself.

In closing, the speaker related the story of the high pressure salesman who was stopped by the question "Do you believe in God?" and who, in turn, said "What does that have to do with it?"

The woman at whom he was directing his sales talk, replied (illustrating the difference religious belief makes in the attitude of man toward his fellow human being) "If you recognize me as a child of God, then your primary purpose will be to be of service to me. If not, your fundamental purpose will be to make a few dollars."

In his address to East Stroudsburg seniors, Rev. Wunder urged the graduates to "combat the amoral, uncreative living of this world by placing yourselves in God's command."

"Regardless of what faith or creed we may have," he continued, "we are all God's children, and even though we travel different roads we will eventually all reach the same point in the eyes of God."

Concluding his sermon, Rev. Wunder pointed out that students "do not come to any school to earn a living, but rather to earn a life."

Schools To Hold Commencement

Clearview and Anahomink schools will hold a joint commencement for 57 sixth graders tonight at 8 p.m. in the Clearview auditorium, it was announced yesterday by Principal Rex Harding.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, will deliver the principal address during the ceremonies.

Two Juveniles

Still At Large

Two juveniles who escaped from county jail detention room Thursday morning still were being sought yesterday.

Sheriff Jacob Altomero found the pair missing when he took them their breakfast at 7 a.m. Thursday. One of the boys apparently had reached through a small hole in the door and picked the lock.

Sheriff Altomero said the pair had made several unsuccessful attempts to break out during the night, judging from the splintered flooring, partly-dismantled window frames and wash weights concealed under a mattress.

The youths' names were given as Jose Velez, 17, New York City, charged with stealing a car at Mountainhome, and James Smith, 17, who had been living with a Saylorsburg family and was described as a "runaway."

YOU'LL FIND IT EVEN BETTER THAN YOU'VE HEARD!..

It's been many years since a new car has caused as much talk as today's Chrysler Imperial has. What you may not realize is how long it's been since a car gave so many reasons for excited talk as this one.

May we invite you to drive and test the best and most worth-owning engine on the road today? (Chrysler's magnificent new 180 H.P. FirePower V-8.)

May we invite you to handle the easiest and safest steering wheel in existence at the moment? (Chrysler's full-time Power Steering.)

May we invite you to try out brakes which require as little as one-third the usual foot-pressure, and still stop you in many feet less than other cars do? (Chrysler Power Brakes.)

May we invite you to sit on the most comfortable seat cushions, and enjoy the fullest window vision you can find? May we invite you to ride on the rough-road miracle of the Oriflow shock absorbers which only Chrysler-built cars have?

May we invite you to drive a Chrysler Imperial... and learn how much you'd miss, and deeply regret, if you bought another car today without knowing this one first?

We... and Imperial by Chrysler... are at your service, any time.

—By Bobby Westbrook

If we've got to make like Polyanthus, and try to find bright spots in a miserable, wet, drippy and drooping holiday, well we'll have to dig deep and come up with something as negative as the fact that the weather undoubtedly cut down on the highway fatalities.

Or no, there was another bright spot—the college kids were home in droves this weekend—and very smooth they looked, too. Except if they expect everybody to make a big fuss over them, they're going to have to wait a week.

This week belongs to this year's graduates. So much so, that the rest of the social news is driven pretty much in the background. Seems queer to have a first Monday coming up and none of the usual winter-time club meetings scheduled, and the week stretching ahead with the first Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday going all unused.

That's not quite correct, either, since there are clubs like the Garden Club and the Hospital Auxiliary and the women's political clubs, which meet all summer; and others like the DAR and some few others with big June meetings coming up.

But by and large, the club season is over, and we're going to be counting on you and your picnics and family reunions to fill the space they leave. And there's where our college youngsters should be a help. They're always ready for a party.

The maid-of-honor's gown was lavender and those of the bridesmaids pink and blue with ribbons to match the dresses. The best man was Jack Darr, of Stroudsburg, and the ushers Jean Merring, Stroudsburg, and Clarence Martin, Philadelphia. They were attired in white coat dinner dress.

The bride's mother was attired for the reception in a sheer navy printed dress with white and blue accessories and wore a corsage of white rosebuds. The mother of the bridegroom selected an aquamarine dress with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

A reception for nearly 100 guests was held in the recreation room of the church where a three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table over which were white paper wedding bells and which was decorated with pink snapdragons. Later supper was served at the home of the bridegroom's parents for the immediate families.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz are on a honeymoon trip to points in the South. On their return, they will reside temporarily at the home of the bridegroom's parents. For travelling, the bride chose a beige linen suit with brown accessories and a corsage of carnations.

The bride was graduated from Stroudsburg High School in the class of 1950 and is employed as an operator at Bell Telephone Co. exchange. The bridegroom was graduated from the Riney Township High School, Philadelphia, and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College last week and is about to enter the U.S. Army.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Looking out of the window a few minutes ago, my eye was caught by two of the new month's most important people... a laughing bride and a harried young father.

The young woman took the spotlight first. She was being assisted from a car just across the street, and looked so dazlingly happy, so shingly new from top to toe, it wasn't necessary to glance twice at her orchid corsage to guess that her wedding band hasn't yet been in dish water. Right behind her, as she crossed the street with her husband, were six other pedestrians, one of whom was Dad. Dad wasn't exactly smiling. In fact, he was having a bit of trouble herding five dungee clad boys ranging in age from four, perhaps, to 15 through the lines of traffic, each lad being more concerned with an ice cream cone than in getting safely across.

What an illustration for the June cover of a magazine... the bride, glamour girl of a romantic month, and Father, who has his day on the 15th. Wyckoff's is, of course, the gift headquarters for both.

It seems strange to see the tables of souvenirs back in the center aisle. But there they are, with all the little mementos people cherish after a pleasant holiday—pictures framed in pressed wood, bookends, metal cowboy boots, and the like. The tourist trade had a wonderful time examining these things, and also gathered in admiring groups around a table loaded with woven belts, market bags, and hammocks from Guatemala. "Didn't I tell you about Wyckoff's?" One chubbly lad demanded of a younger boy, whom he was obviously conducting on an eagerly-anticipated inspection tour. "We come here lots of times."

In vain the Shopper tried to attract the attention of several department heads who had information she needed. But it was a lost cause... they were busy as honey bees in a field of clover. The fountain was surrounded, the tea room was jammed. The only wisdom lay in retreat. Why write a column anyway? Everyone and his brother was in, seeing at first hand... something every wise shopper should do regularly in a store as progressive as ours.

Polk, Pocono Schools Hold Baccalaureate

Graduating seniors of Polk and Pocono Township High Schools last night heard messages from two well-known clergymen in their communities at annual baccalaureate ceremonies.

Rev. Leroy Bernard, pastor of the Tannersville Methodist Church, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to students at Pocono Township High School.

For Polk Township High School seniors, Rev. James Laubach performed a similar service. Rev. Laubach is the pastor of the Pleasant Valley Lutheran Church.

Rev. Bernard used as his text an excerpt from the 21st chapter of the first book of Kings, the passage in which King Ahab is found envying the garden of another man.

Under the general title—"Work Your Own Garden"—Rev. Bernard proceeded to ask the graduating upperclassmen a series of rhetorical questions which, he felt, might well bear directly upon their lives in the future.

"Is it necessary," Rev. Bernard asked, "to have another man's garden in order to be content or to find opportunity?"

"Is it necessary to uproot someone else and take their place or can we find or make an opportunity that will enable us to build our own business and therefore find success and contentment?"

The answers to these and other questions of morality in business and personal life must be left up to the individual, Rev. Bernard pointed out.

He emphasized, however, that the responsible human being will "work his own garden" in an effort to better himself, his business and his life.

Rev. Laubach, speaking in the Polk Township High School auditorium at Kresgeville, had chosen "Building for Tomorrow" as his theme for the night.

Throughout the body of his sermon, Rev. Laubach consistently pointed to a "need for preparation to live" listing one of the foremost prerequisites for learning to live as "having faith in God."

The pastor warned against false success in the main body of his address, saying that "we have a tendency to be a bit too materialistic" in our modern society.

"In our success," Rev. Laubach said, "we are often big failures in the eyes of God."

"Life," he continued, "is not measured in materials achieved, but rather in how much we have been able to enrich our lives spiritually."

"We need not worry about material things in life since God will take care of us," the speaker continued. "The only way to real security in the world today is to have faith in God and not to try to please man, but to try to please God."

The advances of modern science, Rev. Laubach asserted, have made it possible to change "all our lives in a matter of minutes."

He warned the students to be prepared for those rapid changes which might occur during the years following their graduation from the school.

Each of the two ministers was assisted by clergymen from their communities in the baccalaureate programs.

Dear Editor:

Last fall I went to visit the old cemetery on the hill back of the club house at Sute's bridge (or I should say I tried to visit it), as after fighting my way thru briars and brush as far as the gates, which is an iron gate in a beautiful stone wall so completely overgrown with vines and briars it is impossible to open, or get in. Now a few days ago I again stopped and find nothing has been done to it, which I think is a shame, as some of our once prominent settlers of Monroe County, especially the Stroudsburgs, are buried there. I am hoping the Monroe County Historical Society, Veterans organization, or some civic body will be interested enough to clean it out so, at least, any of our old soldiers buried there can have recognition by placing a flag on their grave.

Sincerely,

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Even though Stroudsburg High dropped a 6-4 verdict to Allentown to bow out of the District 11 playoffs, the Mountaineers did have a golden opportunity to show their stuff to several major league scouts who watched the charges of Coach Jerry Stulgaitis play Palmetton, Catasauqua and Allentown in as many days. Among the ivory hunters was Ray Welsh, popular resident of Stroudsburg. Sammy Balliett, manager of the Copley American Legion club, was on hand to see the Mountaineers play both games at Palmetton. Jake Yakubec, umpire behind the plate in the Palmetton and Catasauqua games, is a bird dog for the Philadelphia Phillies.

In case you don't know—a bird dog is a scout's scout, without the power to sign any prospects and is used mainly to give tips to regular ivory hunters. Jack Newell, third baseman with Stroudsburg High and now with Pocono A.C., is headed for Penn State next fall. Seniors who played their last game with Stroudsburg High's Lehigh Valley League championship contingent are Allen "Red" Fetherman, Gene Caskie, Jack Howitt and Newell.

This writer is glad to announce that the people of Stroudsburg are proud of their high school baseball team, even though the club bowed out of the District 11 race. It was something new for local residents to have a championship baseball team, or any other sort of title holder for that matter, on their hands, and the local population was more than pleased with the great run the Mountaineers gave a heavily favored Allentown club for its money last Thursday.

As mentioned previously, the Mountaineers were forced to come off the floor on several occasions to capture the title. Stroudsburg was the victim of minor trouble on the way to Palmetton for the special pre-test game with Palmetton High last Tuesday. But, even though the club was late in arriving and was naturally on edge, it came out of the rut in the last two innings to bag eight runs and win going away. The club had plenty of determination, which in the long run resulted in the championship.

George Bilghaus, baseball and basketball mentor at Lehigh High, was a member of the crowd that watched Stroudsburg battle both Palmetton and Catasauqua in the post-season action. Mike Rubish, head pro at Glen Brook Country Club, had a hot hand on the back nine the other day. The popular professional bagged an eagle-three on number 14, then followed with birdies on 15, 16 and 17. On the four holes that ordinarily require 17 strokes, Rubish engineered in 12. Glen Brook is scheduled to feature a costume scotch-foursome tournament this coming Sunday.

"Chic" Shorten, scout for the Cleveland Indians, was on hand to see Pocono A.C. and West Bangor clash in their Blue Mountain League contest Friday. However, Shorten was actually present hoping to see Ray Steele pitch, not knowing that the lanky right hander had switched to the Bushkill entry in the Pocono Mountain League. However, you can bet that Shorten will see the Bushkill club play on more than one occasion during the remainder of the present campaign. Shorten had watched Ray on several occasions last summer and during the high school season this spring.

Steele, by the way, made his first Pocono Mountain League start of the year one to be remembered, as he fanned 22 Barrett batters last Friday, while walking seven and giving up only two safeties. Reports reaching this column indicate that Steele didn't feel well prior to the game, but decided to pitch anyway. Not feeling well apparently wasn't any obstacle to the long armed right hander, who throws little white pills up at rival batsmen. Further reports also indicate that the major ivory hunters are beginning to close in on the likeable Steele.

The decision of the Stroudsburg Little League not to open until next Monday, instead of today as originally scheduled, will disappoint plenty of people in the borough. However, the choice is certainly wise, due to the fact that recent inclement weather has retarded work on the newly constructed field and has also hindered the progress of the youngsters in their pre-season workouts. The circuit will open with the June 9 schedule and run through the season from that point, making up the opening week late when the opportunity presents itself.

East Stroudsburg's Little League action is slated to open for the 1952 campaign tomorrow, with a parade listed to leave the George N. Kemp American Legion Post and advance to the newly constructed field. The parade is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. and the opening game 45 minutes later. The Pocono Mountain Little League also opens its campaign on Tuesday. The Mountain circuit has set a 6:30 p.m. starting time for all of its contests.

Stroudsburg Little League Postpones Opening Date

Bad Weather
Delays Start
One Week

Stroudsburg Little League fans will have to wait one week for the opening of the 1952 baseball season, it was announced last night by Marty Baldwin, president of the circuit. The campaign was originally slated to open today, but instead will feature the first game next Monday.

Inclement weather was the major factor in postponing the opening ceremonies, Baldwin revealed. Rain and wet grounds have combined to seriously delay work on the newly constructed Little League park and the field won't be ready for action until a week from today.

Agreement
The new date was agreed upon after consulting the board of directors and a meeting of officers. It was also believed that the additional week of delay would enable the players to further condition themselves for the coming campaign.

Pre-season training for the kids has also been hampered by the inclement weather.

Work will continue during the coming week and all four clubs in the circuit will also continue to workout at Stroudsburg Playground.

Penn-Stroud Hotel, Peoples Coal Co., First Stroudsburg National Bank and Security Trust Co. are the teams entered in the circuit for the second straight year.

Charles 12-4
Over Walcott

New York, (AP)—Heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles, the ex-champion, go at each other for the fourth time Thursday night with Charles rated a 12 to 4 favorite to become the first heavyweight king ever to regain the title.

It will be the first defense for the 28-year-old champion who won the crown by knocking out Charles with a perfect left hook to the chin in the seventh round in Pittsburgh last July 18.

Philadelphia
This time the two will battle in huge Municipal Stadium where Gene Tunney captured the prized diadem from Jack Dempsey before 120,000 fans. There will be no such crowd on Thursday. Television has come along, for one thing, and this doesn't rate with the Dempsey-Tunney classic.

Promoter Herman Taylor anticipates a crowd of about 37,000 and a gross take of at least $250,000. Radio-Television receipts will add another $175,000 to the pot which will be split 30-30 by the gladiators. The radio and television broadcasts will go coast-to-coast with the exception of a telecast black-out around the Philadelphia area.

In case of rain, the fight will go on Friday night with the same radio-television coverage. NBC, which telecasts the Friday fights from New York's Madison Square Garden, also is doing the Thursday fight. So in case of rain, it will handle the heavyweights instead of the Garden show.

Mangrum Wins
Western Open

St. Louis, (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum, setting a new competitive course record with a blistering 64 on the final round, yesterday won his first Western Open Golf Championship.

He had a 72-hole total of 274, six under par. Mangrum, getting his six-under par 64, broke the 14-year-old course record held by Ralph Guldahl, who toured Westwood Country Club's reluctant par-70 in a 65 when the Western made its first and only other appearance at the club in 1938.

Mangrum was the only golfer to finish below par. Bobby Locke, his accurate drives and approach shots paying off on the last two rounds, made a brilliant recovery to finish second with a 282.

New Post For Sheridan
Bethlehem—William Sheridan, varsity wrestling and soccer coach at Lehigh University, will become assistant director of athletics at the end of this academic year. General Percy L. Sadler, director, announced yesterday afternoon. In making the announcement, Sadler said that Sheridan's advancement to the new post will make it possible for the athletic department to utilize the veteran coach's broad and varied experience in all the sports in the Lehigh athletic program.

Last Round Postponed

Great Neck, (AP)—The last round of the $17,000 Transcontinental Women's Golf Tournament was postponed yesterday until tomorrow because of heavy rains which made the Deepdale course unplayable.

East Stroudsburg Little League To Open Tomorrow

East Stroudsburg will launch its Little League baseball season tomorrow at its new park, with East Stroudsburg National Bank opposing R. C. Cramer Lumber Co.

The game is scheduled to get underway at 6:45 p.m., with the help of the weatherman, following the opening day parade which is listed to begin at 6 p.m.

Parade
Parade plans call for the line of march to range from the George N. Kemp American Legion Post to the new park, which has been constructed near Memorial Stadium. The parade will feature players of all four teams, the East Stroudsburg High School band and the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

There will be a special flag raising ceremony at the new park immediately after the parade. L. J. Kleinle, mayor of East Stroudsburg, will toss out the first ball.

In addition to the two clubs clashing in tomorrow's contest, Peters-Arnold-Howell and the Methodist Church make up the circuit.

For Mountain
Manor Course

Marshall's Creek — Miss Wanda Mcbrath, Oxford, Pa., registered the first hole-in-one of the present season at Mountain Manor Golf Course yesterday, when she directed the ball into the cup with one stroke on the 116-yard seventh hole while playing with Michael Barron, also of Oxford.

Miss Mcbrath used a five iron to register the season's initial ace, it was announced last night by Ray Lambert, head pro at Mountain Manor.

Fourth Time
This is the fourth ace in two years on the small course. Dr. Krongold used a five iron to score a hole-in-one last year, one of three times that the trick was performed, when he lashed his tee shot into the cup on the ninth hole, 142 yards from the tee.

Byron "Chick" Miller accounted for an ace on the 146-yard second hole last summer, with a five iron.

Joe Schlegel, Nazareth, scored the third ace last year, using a seven iron on the ninth hole.

Drobny Wins
Tennis Title

Paris, (AP)—Jaroslav Drobny whipped Frank Sedgman of Australia yesterday, 6-2, 6-10, 3-6, 6-1 to retain the French Tennis Championship and stamp himself as a prime threat for the Wimbledon title later this month.

Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., reversing the result of last year's women's finals, defeated Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-4, 6-1 to take the women's title.

Doubles

Miss Fry and Eric Sturgess of South Africa, Drobny's victim in last year's singles final, defeated Beryl Primrose and Mervyn Rose in the mixed doubles semi-finals 6-3, 6-4. They meet Miss Hart and Sedgman today.

Dodgers Use Big Inning To Take Measure Of Cubs, 3-2

Chicago, (AP)—Gil Hodges' two-run homer during a three-run burst in the second inning and Joe Black's air-tight relief pitching in the final two frames yesterday gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 3-2 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

The third-place Cubs, held to Toby Atwell's blooper single by former teammate, Ben Wade, knocked the 200-pound right-hander from the mound with a pair of runs in the eighth.

Retires Sides

Dee Fondy, who singled for the Cubs' second hit off Wade and Hal Jeffcoat who singled, raced home on Manager Phil Cavaretta's triple, his first hit in five pinch-hitting tries this season. Cavaretta was abandoned on third, Chicago ... 000 000 020-2 5 1 however, when rookie Black went in and retired the side by striking out Eddie Miksis.

Wade, credited with his fourth victory against two defeats, faced only 22 batters until the eighth, fanned seven and walked one.

Johnny Klippstein was the loser.

The win enabled the Dodgers to continue the mastery that the Bums have held over the Cubs in recent years, despite the fact that the Chicago club has been the number one market for Brooklyn farm hands in recent years.

Lawrenceville Prep Star To Enter Meet

Shawnee-on-Delaware — Hendrick "Sandy" Gidson, the nation's schoolboy swimming sensation from Lawrenceville School has accepted an invitation to compete in the fourth annual Shawnee Invitation Swimming meet at Fred Waring's Shawnee Inn and Country Club here Sunday June 15.

Sandy, who lives in Highland Park, N.J., and competes for the Plainfield Swimming Club when he isn't competing at school, was nominated by Mickey Vogt, Newark, S.C. coach who is selecting and will manage the New Jersey-New York Metropolitan District AAU team that will compete in the Shawnee meet.

The New Jersey-New York swimmers will compete against teams from the South Atlantic and the Middle Atlantic District AAU teams.

Seven Places

Gidson was given seven places on this year's All-American Preparatory School team. While performing the fastest times in the nation in seven different events he chalked up two national records and tied another. He won the individual medley crown in one minute, 32.4 seconds for one national mark; he was on the Lawrenceville 150-yard medley relay team which set up a national mark of one minute, 19.4 seconds and he tied the national record in the 100-yard freestyle with a 51 seconds mark.

The other events in which he had the fastest times and was named on the All-American team were: 100-yard backstroke 59.9 seconds, and swim anchor on the Lawrenceville 200-yard freestyle relay with a one minute, 35.4 seconds mark. In the 100-yard breaststroke he was clocked in one minute, 05.4 seconds.

In the Shawnee meet Gidson will be featured with Joe Verdeur, Olympic breaststroke champion; Barbara Hodelmann, who holds two national records; Mary Freeman, a five times national titleholder and Gail Peters who recently won four national titles at Daytona Beach, Fla., as well as a host of other national swimming luminaries.

Qualifying Test Delayed

New York (AP) — The New York Metropolitan district qualifying test for the U.S. Open Golf Tournament June 12-14 was postponed yesterday until Wednesday because the Montclair, N.J., golf club course was unplayable.

American Legion Club To Hold Two Important Drill Sessions

Any baseball players in the Monroe County area hopeful of winning a position on the George N. Kemp American Legion Post baseball team were warned last night by Tom Carmella, post athletic officer, that all candidates hoping of playing with the local entry in the Northampton County American Legion League, must be at today's and tomorrow's practice sessions.

Both drills will be held at 4 p.m., on the East Stroudsburg Playground field, under the watchful eye of Del Davis, club manager.

A picture will be taken of the team tomorrow at 5 p.m. and all team members must be present for the picture, as it must be forwarded to league headquarters.

The East Stroudsburg club opens league play on Wednesday, when it plays host to Wilson Borough, at the East Stroudsburg Playground field. This game is scheduled to get underway at 8 p.m.

East Stroudsburg will play most of its American Legion games in the two-night hours during the coming campaign.

Only those players attending the next two practice sessions will be named to the team Carmella announced last night, despite the presence of outstanding ability of those who report after the deadline.

Red Sox Win On Circuit Blow

Boston (AP) — Fred Hatfield used his first 1952 homer to break up a drizzle-drenched pitching duel between rookie Bill Henry and Saul Rogovin yesterday and gave the Boston Red Sox a 3-2 decision over the White Sox.

The White Sox did all of their scoring on the first two of their six hits. Eddie Robinson opened the second frame with a single to right field and Sam Mele followed by lofting a ball into the left field screen for his third homer in the two games here.

Deadlock The Red Sox deadlocked matters in the fifth. Walt Dropo led off with a single to center and, with one out, went to third on Hatfield's safe drive to center.

Dropo scored when Del Wilber grounded and Nelly Fox dropped the ball while trying to force Hatfield at second base. Dom DiMaggio's two-out single to left brought in Hatfield with the tying run.

Grimm Doesn't Plan Any Drastic Changes In Third Crack At Managing Major League Club

By Harold Harrison

Cincinnati (AP) — Charley Grimm became a major league manager for the third time yesterday and expressed hope he'd be as fortunate as he was in his first venture just 20 years ago.

That was the year he succeeded Rogers Hornsby in mid-season as manager of the Chicago Cubs and led the Bruins to a National League pennant.

With the 1952 season a month and a half old, Grimm stepped in

There is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to suit out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 1. The result is your "number." Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. These reveal the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Braves Split With Reds In Doubleheader

Cincinnati (AP) — The Boston Braves won their first game of their new Manager Charlie Grimm yesterday with an 18 hit, 9 to 4 victory over Cincinnati after veteran southpaw Ken Raffensberger of the Reds shut them out 1 to 0 in the opener of a doubleheader for his seventh win.

Lefty Warren Spahn wavered in the ninth inning of the nightcap; but the 9 to 2 cushion his mates had provided for him insured a split of the two games. Spahn yielded 10 hits to gain his fifth victory against three setbacks, while the Braves were pounding the daylight out of starter Frank Hiller and four Redleg relievers.

Eighth Homer

Ed Matthews, young Boston third baseman, lifted a towering shot into the rightfield bleachers in the fourth of his eighth home run after the Braves already had jumped out to a 5 to 1 lead.

Raffensberger and righthander Vern Biekford engaged in a tense and terrific pitching duel in the first game, each allowing only five hits, until Andy Seminick's bottom-of-the-ninth single drove in the winning run.

Home Runs Enable Pirates To Divide Pair With Phils

Pittsburgh (AP) — A story book homer by Pittsburgh's pride, Ralph Kiner, forced Philadelphia to divide a doubleheader with the Pirates yesterday. Philadelphia won the opener 5-1 but lost the nightcap 2-1.

Homers by Kiner—his seventh of 1952—and by third baseman Pete Castiglione in the ninth inning of the second game changed apparent defeat into a victory that tingled the spines of 15,529 fans.

Big Blows

The Pirates were trailing 1-0 when Castiglione connected with a homer which landed in the Philadelphia bullpen. With the score tied, Kiner strode to the plate and whammed the ball over the left field wall to give the Pirates a surprise victory.

LaAnna Pottery Plant Supplies Wares To Shops In Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey Areas

The 28th of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here; how it is made; the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By Robert J. Staph

LaAnna—Patrons of gift shops in the Poconos, as well as those in other sections of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, are rapidly becoming aware of the fine workmanship being turned out in the Holley Ross pottery here.

The product of Holley Ross, which is glazed pottery ranging from ash trays and novelty items to highly decorative vases and ornate lamp bases, has received ever-increasing customer acceptance throughout the east since manufacturing began here a few years ago.

Ernest Smith, proprietor of the establishment, has spent almost all of his adult life in the pottery industry and a visit to this small, but modern and efficient, plant will reveal that the lessons learned in those years of experience have not been wasted.

A native of Stroudsburg, Smith spent 22 years as a trouble-shooter for one of America's largest suppliers of raw materials used in the pottery art. This took him into plants all over the United States and gave him an insight into the many, many problems that develop in this ancient craft.

Employing only six people at the present time, Smith's plans for expansion call for a top payroll of 18, not including a sales force. Plant facilities are rapidly approaching the point to handle such a force.

Process for the greater portion of Holley Ross ware is known to the trade as "drain-casting." It entails the pouring of a thin clay mixture into split molds, allowing it to remain until the outer portions have partially hardened, pouring off the still-liquid center portion and then removing the molds.

The clay in its liquid state is known as "slip." This is a mixture of feldspar, ball clay, china clay and flint, with 45 per cent water added as a dispersing agent. These materials are agitated in a "blunger" for from four to six hours to insure a uniform consistency in the mixture.

Cleansing of the "slip" follows. Dirt is removed by passing the mixture through a screen and any particles of iron are taken out by exposing the material to a magnet.

Mixing "slip" is the potter's closely-guarded secret, one point in the entire process that can mean success or failure. Care, accuracy and know-how used in compounding the mixture can mean kiln-fuls of beautiful ware; mistakes a truck load of worthless junk.

The molds, made of a special potter's plaster, are then filled. These have a quality of rapidly absorbing moisture, forming a semi-hard shell along the walls of the mold, from which the excess liquid is drained.

The "body" is trimmed and sponged to smoothness and a glaze is applied. The ware is then placed in the first of two kilns and subjected to heat of 1900 degrees Fahrenheit for a period of 12 hours. This anneals the piece and it is ready for the decorator.

Girls now tint the ware to the desired color, affix hand-painted designs and transfers and effect shaded tones by use of an airbrush. Among the many substances used in the decoration is 22-karat gold in pure form—dilution will cause the decoration to discolor with age, Smith points out.

Second critical point in the process is the second and final firing. Care must be exercised in bringing the kiln to its final temperature of 1380 degrees Fahrenheit in easy stages to prevent the finish from cracking, blistering or discoloring.

Despite all the precautions taken, the potter doesn't know if his labors will be work of art or a "potter's nightmare" until he withdraws the truck from the kiln after the final firing.

Smith smiled as he withdrew the truck during our visit. We knew that this Holley Ross ware was destined for the shelves of a gift shop and would finally find its way into the home of an admirer.

The Holley Ross pottery is located on Route 90 and is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Public demonstrations are scheduled daily from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon.

Chemical Workers Go On Strike

Pittsburgh (AP)—About 175 employees of the Neville Co. chemical plant walked out on strike early yesterday in a contract dispute.

Howard Debold, a state mediator, said workers have rejected a proposal to extend their contract three weeks pending further negotiations. He said working conditions were the principal issues holding up a settlement after the company offered a cost-of-living increase and three more paid holidays.

Fire Destroys Wild Life In Deep Lake Area

Over 20 deer, many rabbits, as well as numerous grouse nests were destroyed by the 1,500 acres fire which swept across game lands No. 38 in the Deep Lake section of the county.

Game Protector John H. Doebling, Stroudsburg has filed a report with the Pennsylvania Game Commission reporting this destruction of wild life.

He said forest fire wardens had made the count on destruction of game during the check of the area covered by the fire.

In his report, Doebbing emphasized that in addition to loss of game and valuable timber, food and cover for wildlife was also destroyed by a fire which investigators have determined was of incendiary origin.

Heavy Damages Listed After Crash Of Two Local Cars

Damages of $1,100 were caused when two cars collided at 10 p.m. Friday on Route 611 opposite Stroud Roller Rink.

Stroudsburg State police said both cars were moving north, with Harold J. Getz, 39, of 2088 Miller St., Stroudsburg, following Harry Eggert, 20, Pocono.

Eggert started to turn into the roller rink driveway just as Getz started to pass, police said. The two cars collided, and the Eggert car went off the road, hit a sign, snapped off a telephone pole and rolled down the embankment.

Police said it travelled about 150 feet before coming to rest.

Only person injured was a passenger in Eggert's car, Earl Kresge, 25, of Cresco RD1, who suffered minor back injuries, police said.

Damages were $600 to Eggert's car and $500 to the Getz auto. There were no arrests.

Skyland, Va., (AP)—Folks interested in taking a 2,500 mile "walk" will find the Appalachian Trail in tip-top shape for the summer hiking season.

Officials of the Appalachian Trail conference, meeting at this Blue Ridge Mountain resort, said only three sections of the 13-state trail will pose any difficulties to outdoorsmen.

These include a tiny strip of the trail in Vermont which was damaged by a 1950 storm, a section in Northern New Jersey which has become overgrown by underbrush and a portion in Pennsylvania endangered by rifle fire from the Indian Gap Military Reservation.
